Delaware Counsel Group Names Furia Rubel Agency of Record

March 2005-- The Delaware Counsel Group, LLP named Furia Rubel PR agency of record and its president, Gina Rubel as Chief Communications Officer. A women-owned boutique transactional law practice based in Wilmington, Delaware, The Delaware Counsel Group provides guidance in connection with the formation, operation and governance issues involving Delaware corporate and alternative business entities.

Firm partner, Heather Jefferson, Esquire sought Furia Rubel in order to generate national and international recognition for The Delaware Counsel Group following the firm's successful first year after the partners' departure from another law firm in February of 2004 and their recent National Association of Minority & Women Owned Law Firms Certification.

Jefferson said, "We look forward to using Furia Rubel's proven experience and creativity in law firm public relations to disseminate our message and strategically grow our current client base throughout the United States and abroad. As a women-owned business advising on transactions involving Delaware corporations and other alternative business entities, we're excited to have an attorney-owned, women-owned PR firm join our team."

Rubel owns and operates Furia Rubel Communications. An attorney turned public relations practitioner, Rubel has nearly 15 years public relations experience. Rubel has worked with several law firms and legal entities, and Rubel clients have been featured in print, radio and television locally, regionally and nationally.
