Delaware Counsel Group Lawyers Present at Bar Association Conference

Ellisa Opstbaum Habbart and Heather D. Jefferson, partners with the law firm of The Delaware Counsel Group, LLP, presented on two panels regarding Delaware law issues at the 2005 Spring Meeting of the Section of Business Law, part of the American Bar Association (ABA). Ms. Habbart's program focused on venture capital issues and specifically, the state of formation for forming businesses looking to attract venture capital funding. Ms. Habbart addressed Delaware corporations and the types of issues involved with formation. Ms. Jefferson's program focused on the different types of alternative business entities. Ms. Jefferson specifically addressed the Delaware limited liability company entity and the type of uses.

The programs were part of the educational programming presented by the Section of Business Law Spring Meeting in Nashville, Tennessee. Over 1,500 lawyers from around the country attend for continuing legal education programs as well as participate in committee projects.
